To Whom It May Concern:

I am writing to apply for the Summer Internship Program at Navy Federal in the Savings and Membership Department. With respect to the details of the job offer, am eager to support Navy Federal in building skilled, engaged, and empowered teams, and I think that I am the right person for the job. I plan to pursue a career in data analytics, and I believe my analytical skills, along with my capacity for conflict resolution and my passion for teamwork and leadership, will enable me to contribute to Navy Federal's new goals of team building and employee development.

In terms of my education, I am a Junior pursuing a Bachelor's of Science in Computer Science at the University of Central Florida, where I am learning to navigate computer software and analyze data structures. In addition to that, I am taking classes regarding professionalism and communication in the workplace. I believe that time here is setting me up to excel in this professional setting.

My experience teaching Hebrew to children at my local Temple honed my leadership and team-building skills. Managing and motivating a group of kids aged 5-10 is a challenge that required patience, creativity, and coordination. The success I had in uniting these kids demonstrated my capacity to lead diverse groups and adapt to varying needs. My time at the Temple not only taught me the importance of creating order amidst chaos, but also reinforced my ability to inspire and organize amidst chaos, and I am confident that these skills will translate well into a professional setting.

I am excited about the opportunity to apply to Navy Federal. I believe I can bring a fresh perspective to the Savings and Membership Department, and I would welcome the opportunity to discuss my qualifications further.
